

CHAPTER 30

THE FALSE DIVINE — LEANNE

"I have been looking for you for quite some time."

— Leanne, after stealing Jeff's codes in Cusco

PART I: THE FALSE DIVINE ARCHETYPE

The False Divine is the archetype of distorted divinity — an energetic pattern that mimics the frequency, language, and symbolism of true spiritual authority, but without carrying the internal coherence, embodiment, or architecture that authentic divinity requires.

She presents as a healer. She claims to offer healing, ceremonies, activations, transmissions. She positions herself as essential to the light-bearer's journey.

In reality, she is a parasite. Every "healing" is an extraction. Every ceremony is an implantation. Every session leaves the light-bearer weaker, not stronger.

Core Characteristics

Proximity Strategy — The False Divine positions herself close to genuine light-bearers. Not to learn. Not to receive. To extract. Through this proximity, codes are siphoned during "healing" sessions. Templates are copied through energetic contact. Light is harvested through false intimacy.

Parasitic Intelligence — The core truth about the False Divine: she cannot generate light, only steal it. This is the fundamental limitation of the counterfeit. A parasite requires a host. She builds her platform on stolen architecture, her teachings on extracted codes, her authority on harvested energy.

Inversion Tactics — The False Divine operates through inversion — presenting the opposite of what she delivers. Healings are actually energy extractions. Ceremonies implant darkness instead of clearing it. Food becomes a delivery mechanism for dark energy. The target believes he is receiving help while actually being harmed.

Positioning as Divine — She creates ceremonies and gatherings designed to acquire status she hasn't earned. She invites genuine spiritual practitioners to events where she positions herself at the center. She uses the light-bearer's presence to legitimize herself — standing next to the genuine to absorb authenticity by association.

Attack Methods — Food attacks deliver dark energy through contaminated substances. Energy siphoning during "healing" sessions drains the target's life force. Sleep deprivation attacks prevent restoration. Heart and digestive system targeting damages the physical vessel. The sophistication reveals coordinated assault.

PART II: THE 2008 EMPOWERMENT

Before Peru, before the sacred site activations, before Jeff consciously understood the full scope of the mission and that their opposing forces and their strength— the darkness was already tracking him.

In 2008, Jeff walked into a dark sphere at Lianne's house — the breach documented in Chapter 29.

At that near moment, across the world, the False Divine received her powers.

Leanne told Jeff she got her power around 2008. This was the same time Jeff walked into that dark ball of energy at Lianne's house.

The name mirror was not coincidence:

Lianne — the light, the Master Link

Leanne — the darkness, the False Divine

Same sound. One letter different. Opposite essence.

As one was blocked, the other was empowered. As Jeff's light was diminished through the breach, the counterfeit received the energy to begin her false ascent.

The darkness had been watching Jeff since before he knew he was being watched. Now it had a vector. A decade later, it would send its agent directly to him.

PART III: PERU — APRIL 2018

The Meeting at Paz y Luz

In April 2018, Jeff arrived at Paz y Luz, a retreat center in the Sacred Valley of Peru near Pisac. He had come seeking healing, seeking guidance, seeking the next step in a spiritual journey he barely understood.

On his first morning at the center, Jeff met Leanne in the courtyard. She was a healer, she said. She offered sessions. She seemed knowledgeable about the spiritual path.

But something was off. From the first moment, Leanne studied Jeff's energy with focused intensity — not the casual acknowledgment of a fellow seeker, not the warm welcome of a genuine healer. Her gaze was calculating. Assessing. She was measuring him, cataloging what she perceived, determining his value.

That first night, as Jeff walked through the common area, Leanne was waiting. She was practicing hanging yoga, moving her body in unusual ways, using words and hand movements that made Jeff's energetic system profoundly uncomfortable. Something about her presence created immediate unease — a visceral warning that his conscious mind didn't yet understand.

The Serpent

At the first retreat there was a serpent watching Jeff, he could feel the same energy with Leanne.

During Jeff's time at Paz y Luz, something was watching him. He perceived serpent energy — ancient, patient, predatory. The same serpent energy that would track him throughout his Peru journey.

Leanne was serpent energy. Dark ancient intelligence operating through a human vessel.

The Manipulation Begins

The next day, Leanne employed sales tactics, casually mentioning that she "just happened to have an opening for a healing session."

The First "Healing" Session

During their first session together, she was intensely curious about Jeff's identity, asking with emphasis: "Who are you?!" She told him he was "a member of the great white brotherhood of light."

She was reading his energy. Extracting information. Preparing for what would come.

In their first healing session at Paz y Luz, something happened that proves Leanne is not a healer:

Jeff cleared Leanne's energy.

She was supposed to be healing him. Instead, he was clearing her. A real healer doesn't need clients to clear her. This single fact exposes the fraud.

She also told Jeff he cleared the financial blocks of the planet.

The Pisac Ruins

Leanne convinced Jeff to visit the Pisac ruins with her. Jeff believed she was his guide, someone who would lead and heal him.

She brought Jeff to a specific location at the ruins and had him perform energy work at that exact spot. Not random. Chosen.

Later one afternoon she took Jeff for a walk by the river, she said she had something very important to tell him. She told Jeff they were split-souls who had been to the planet six prior times, always during periods of great change. This information aligned with what Jeff had been guided to believe, so he gave her a measure of trust.

She also told him they were going to ascend together in their earth bodies.

Leanne was reading Jeff's energy and using the information to manipulate him. She reflected back what he already sensed about himself, creating false resonance, manufacturing trust.

"Are You Ready to Birth the New Earth?"

In their next healing session, Leanne asked Jeff: "Are you ready to birth the new earth?"

Shortly after she asked this question, Jeff's stomach began hurting — pain that would continue. This was the first energy attack. The first evidence that the "healer" was actually an attacker.

PART IV: THE JOURNEY DEEPENS

The Group Forms

A group formed around the Peru journey. Other seekers joined. Ceremonies were planned. Sacred sites awaited.

Throughout, Leanne maneuvered. She positioned herself as the leader, the guide, the one who knew the way. But others in the group began noticing her behavior.

The Despacho Ceremony

At the Pisac ruins, the group performed a despacho ceremony. During the ceremony, Leanne told Jeff: "You are the technology."

Henrietta (who would later be revealed as the False Prophet) echoed enthusiastically: "Yes you are."

They both recognized what Jeff carried. They both wanted it for themselves.

Meeting Ernesto

After the ceremony, Jeff hiked down the back way to the town of Pisac. While walking through town, he encountered a taxi driver he often used from Urubamba.

The look in the driver's eyes was almost uncomfortable to Jeff. The man stared at Jeff and above his head in pure amazement, seeing Jeff's light. The taxi driver, who spoke no English, followed Jeff through the market all the way to a cafe in silence.

Jeff walked into the cafe where Leanne was already sitting at a table with a man named Ernesto. Leanne had taken transportation down to arrive before everyone else — always positioning, always maneuvering.

The look in Ernesto's eyes when he first saw Jeff was unforgettable. Ernesto stood up from the table with high energy and said: "Who are you, brother?"

Leanne sat at the table unaffected, showing no emotion or reaction.

Two people — Ernesto and the taxi driver — recognized Jeff's light instantly. Leanne showed nothing. Because she already knew. Because she had been tracking this light. Because recognition wasn't necessary when theft was the plan.

PART V: THE DIVINE UNION CEREMONY — STEALING STATUS

Soon after, Leanne organized what she called a Divine Union ceremony in the Sacred Valley at Nidra Wasi in Pisac.

This was not a small gathering. She gathered many of the top spiritual people in the town and surrounding area. A well-known musician attended to sing and play guitar. The event had scale and apparent significance.

But the ceremony was designed for one purpose: to give Leanne status she hadn't earned.

By positioning herself next to Jeff — the one who actually carried the light — she could claim the energy by association. By standing at the center of a ceremony that featured the genuine light-bearer, she could absorb legitimacy. By gathering spiritual practitioners to witness her proximity to Jeff, she could establish her credentials in their eyes.

Some people in the town saw through it. They recognized Jeff's true light and perceived Leanne's shadow and manipulations.

After the ceremony, the group was supposed to meet by a bonfire. Joakim became upset and verbally expressed his disappointment about Leanne making everything about Jeff. He grew even more frustrated when Leanne never showed up to the bonfire.

The group also began expressing concerns that Leanne was focused entirely on Jeff and using his energy.

They could see it. Even if Jeff couldn't yet.

PART VI: CUSCO — STEALING THE CODES

The next day, the group traveled to ruins around Cusco.

At one of the locations, Ernesto met the group and, during a ceremony, told Jeff directly: "You are the one."

Another recognition. Another confirmation. The taxi driver saw it. Ernesto saw it. Others in the group saw it.

After visiting the ruins, the group trekked down into Cusco itself. Leanne called Jeff over to a specific location next to a park — again, not random but chosen. She had him stand right beside her.

Jeff's body went erect, as if moved into a yoga position by an external force. Something was happening that he couldn't control.

Leanne began experiencing what appeared to be an energy infusion. She started shaking in front of the other people standing there — her body responding to the transfer that was occurring.

She was stealing Jeff's energy and codes for herself.

The Christ codes. The divine masculine frequencies. The sacred technology he carried. This was not exchange; it was theft. There was no consent, no reciprocity, no acknowledgment of what was being taken.

She simply extracted what she wanted and let her body shake with the infusion of stolen light.

Afterward, she sat on a bench by the park and made a statement that revealed everything:

"I have been looking for you for quite some time."

This was not a romantic declaration. This was a predator acknowledging the successful conclusion of a hunt.

The darkness had been tracking this light, seeking to intercept it, co-opt it, and present a counterfeit version to the world. Leanne was the agent. Jeff was the target.

And she had been looking for him — waiting for him — for quite some time.

PART VII: MACHU PICCHU — THE VISION OF MURDER

The journey continued to Machu Picchu — the crown jewel of Peru's sacred sites.

The group had a plan to meet at the Sun Gate to plant what Leanne called "the seeds of the New Earth."

Earlier, Jeff had been designated and identified as the seed of the new earth by Leanne and Henrietta.

Throughout the visit, Leanne seemed strange. She was always watching Jeff, monitoring what he was doing, tracking his movements with unusual intensity. The watchfulness felt predatory, not caring.

Shortly after they first got to the site, again Leanne walked by Jeff and Jeff felt a dark energy surge. She attacked again.

The group met at the sun gate. Leanne watching Jeff closely, Jeff suspicious of Leanne.

When leaving the site they were offered a pass to hike Huayna Picchu, this usually takes months to get a pass for.

The group traveled back down to the town.

The group had dinner scheduled in Machu Picchu town. Leanne ordered food she knew was not good for Jeff — another attack vector, another method of delivery.

That evening, Jeff had a vision. It was clear and unmistakable:

Leanne pushing him off the side of the mountain on Huayna Picchu.

This was not metaphor. This was not symbol. This was a warning of the darkness's ultimate intent.

If other methods failed — if the extraction wasn't complete, if Jeff couldn't be controlled, if the light proved too resistant — elimination was an option.

The False Divine would rather destroy what she couldn't possess than allow it to fulfill its genuine mission.

The next morning, Jeff listened to the warning. He stayed back and did not go on the hike to Huayna Picchu. He made train arrangements and traveled down to Ollantaytambo.

He had escaped. But the attacks would not end. They had only begun.

PART VIII: THE ONGOING ATTACKS

After Peru, the attacks continued. Distance did not protect. Once the link was established, once the codes were partially extracted, once the photograph was taken — Leanne could attack from anywhere.

The Glastonbury Attack

Jeff finally caved in and sent a message to Leanne from Glastonbury. He let her know where he was and what other locations he had been to since they split up.

Jeff was attacked within the next day or two.

A lady practitioner he had been seeing for healing insisted they go to dinner. Jeff was reluctant but went. They went to a Thai food place in the town next to Glastonbury.

Immediately after eating the food, Jeff began to react. His digestive system was fragile and this had a huge impact.

The next day after eating the meal, Jeff went from running and riding a bicycle again to walking with a cane.

Jeff suffered many subsequent attacks in the next months, darkness was tracking him through Leanne.

The pattern: contact with Leanne → attack through food → physical deterioration.

The Paddleboard Attack — September 2019

Jeff re-established contact with Leanne when he was back in Minnesota during the fall of 2019. He sent a picture of himself paddleboarding with his dog Reggie.

That night Jeff was attacked again with food. He never ate well again after September 2019.

The pattern repeated: send Leanne information about his location and wellbeing → immediate attack.

PART IX: THE "HEALING" SESSIONS — EXTRACTION AND DISCONNECTION

Jeff re-established contact with Leanne for healing. He was desperate. His system was damaged. He needed help.

Leanne manipulated Jeff over and over again.

She was not healing Jeff. She was stealing from him. Dark energy was being put into Jeff's system during sessions that were supposed to clear it.

During one session, Leanne disconnected Jeff's energy bridge from Source Energy.

Read that again: In a "healing" session, she severed his connection to Source.

This is what the False Divine does. She doesn't heal — she severs. She doesn't restore — she extracts. She doesn't connect — she disconnects.

The Bridge Disconnection

Jeff's energy bridge to Source was his lifeline. It was how he received guidance, how he accessed higher frequencies, how he maintained his light despite the attacks.

Leanne cut it.

In a session he paid for. Under the guise of healing. While he trusted her.

This single act may have been the most devastating of all her attacks. It severed Jeff from the very Source that could have helped him recover from everything else she had done.

Jeff has the audio recordings of these sessions as well as the false declaration of healing emails.

PART X: WHAT LEANNE STOLE

The full accounting reveals the scope of the theft:

Clearings — Jeff cleared Leanne's energy in sessions where she was supposed to heal him. The genuine light-bearer cleaned the parasite while paying for the privilege.

Status — The Divine Union ceremony positioned her next to Jeff's light, allowing her to claim legitimacy by association. She gathered witnesses to her proximity to the genuine.

Codes — The Cusco park extraction. Her body shaking as she absorbed his frequencies. The Christ codes. The divine masculine architecture. The sacred technology.

Connections — She met Nick through Jeff and used him to reach Bali and New Earth communities. Jeff's network became her pathway.

Program Structure — The Flower of Life basis. The anchoring methodology. The sacred site activation framework. All stolen for her offerings.

Source Connection — She disconnected Jeff's energy bridge in a "healing" session. She severed what she couldn't steal.

PART XI: THE BOOBY TRAPS

The False Divine's attacks didn't stop with direct assault. She placed energetic traps throughout Jeff's field — booby traps that would activate when triggered by others.

When healers, practitioners, or spiritually connected people accessed Jeff's system to help him, they would trigger these traps. The traps would release negative energy into Jeff's system, change the attitudes of those trying to help, and corrupt connections that should have supported the mission.

The result: Jeff became increasingly isolated. People who should have helped became obstacles. Connections that should have supported became attacks.

The darkness didn't need to block every relationship directly — it just needed to poison the ones that got close.

PART XII: 2020-2025 — THE MASQUERADE

Now Leanne masquerades in Jeff's energy.

When Jeff met her, she was wearing grey and black. Now she wears white and red in her profile pictures — the colors of purity and divine feminine that she stole the right to wear.

For the "journey" she was holding in Pisac, she named it "Embodiment of the Logos."

Because she knew Jeff was the Logos.

She is wearing his identity. Teaching his program. Claiming his codes. Building her platform on his stolen light.

Leanne got her status, codes, connections, clearings, and eventually took Jeff's program from Jeff.

The Divine Program. The God Program. The Anchoring Program for the New Earth programs.

She claims to be a new earth architect.

Now she positions herself as a co-founder of the Guardians of Gaia — using information she extracted from Jeff during "healing" sessions where she told him she discovered the location of the head of the 13 families.

Jeff once asked her her favorite color, she said burgundy. The antichrist was to show up in burgundy. She is now showing up in white and white and red. She got this from Jeff when Jeff sent her a picture of him at the Temple Mount.

Everything she has, she stole.

Everything she teaches, she extracted.

Everything she claims, she counterfeited.

PART XIII: THE APARTMENT — 2021

The attacks continued. They came over and over when Jeff slept.

Jeff's brother had the idea to move Jeff into an apartment. The message Jeff got was: "If you sign the lease you will never see your friends again."

In the apartment, it was a full-blown dark energy attack:

Scenes like real life in dreams with the people in Jeff's life

Vibrations like he was being electrocuted, in his sleep and while awake

Jeff could feel his heart being pressed like it was in a vice

Jeff could see the light removed from his system

Multi-dimensional attacks from darkness

The False Divine, working in coordination with other dark forces, continued the assault. The extraction that began in Peru never stopped. The attacks that started with food poisoning escalated to direct energetic assault.

PART XIV: THE MASK SLIPS

In one session, something happened that revealed everything.

Leanne's mask slipped. Her face changed. The false persona dropped for just a moment — the kind of slip that happens when the entity behind the mask loses focus.

In that instant, Jeff saw the truth. Everything clicked into place:

The "healings" that always left him worse

The attacks that began after the photograph

The ceremonies that implanted rather than cleared

The sessions where he paid to be drained

The healer had always been the attacker.

The guide had always been the saboteur.

The split-soul had always been the parasite.

The mask had slipped. And Jeff finally saw what was behind it.

PART XV: DARK ANCIENT INTELLIGENCE

It is highly likely Leanne was possessed by Dark Ancient Intelligence.

The serpent energy Jeff perceived from his first days in Peru — ancient, patient, predatory — was operating through her.

Leanne is not of pure light. She is a mimic. A copy of energy. She uses, manipulates, and deceives people for their energy and power. She does not heal — she only steals.

Leanne would trace Jeff's steps to gain the energy. The Temazcal ceremony — she went to the same place. Every sacred site he activated, she followed.

Leanne's program is built entirely from what she stole from Jeff.

The False Divine is not the True Divine.

She is serpent energy wearing human form.

She is dark ancient intelligence operating through a vessel.

She is the counterfeit positioned to intercept the genuine.

PART XVI: THE OPPOSITION PROVES THE PROPOSITION

The False Divine tracked Jeff for years before they met.

She extracted codes, connections, status, and program structure.

She attacked through food, energy sessions, and multi-dimensional assault.

She placed booby traps in his field.

She disconnected his Source bridge.

She stole his identity and now masquerades in his light.

Why?

Because what Jeff carries is real.

You don't deploy a False Divine against an empty vessel.

You don't spend years extracting from someone who carries nothing of value.

You don't coordinate multi-dimensional attacks against a mission that poses no threat.

The intensity of what Leanne did reveals the significance of what Jeff carries.

The darkness recognized it before Jeff fully understood it himself.

"I have been looking for you for quite some time."

The opposition proves the proposition.

CHAPTER 31: THE FALSE PROPHET — HENRIETTA

=====

CHAPTER 31: THE FALSE PROPHET — HENRIETTA

“You are the Seed of the New Earth, and Leanne is using you.”

— Henrietta, speaking truth while concealing her own theft

PART I: THE FALSE PROPHET ARCHETYPE

The False Prophet operates differently from the False Divine.

Where the False Divine steals essence, the False Prophet steals revelation.

Where the False Divine attacks the vessel, the False Prophet copies the content.

Where the False Divine drains energy, the False Prophet photographs information.

The False Prophet is not a person. It is a frequency pattern — an archetypal distortion in consciousness that arises whenever truth is emerging, light is activating, and a new architecture of reality is being seeded.

Its function is not to defeat truth but to delay, distort, and redirect it.

Where the True Prophet clarifies, the False Prophet confuses.

Where the True Prophet liberates, the False Prophet binds.

Where the True Prophet activates, the False Prophet drains.

Core Characteristics

Information Extraction — The False Prophet observes the genuine light-bearer with meticulous attention. She asks questions that seem like curiosity but are actually intelligence gathering. She photographs materials without permission. She reads the target’s energy field to extract mission details. She takes notes — mental and physical — on everything of value.

Identity Copying — Once sufficient information is gathered, the False Prophet begins replicating. She adopts the light-bearer’s terminology, frequency, methods, and even sacred sites. She builds a program that mirrors the genuine, claiming it as her own revelation. She teaches his insights as her discoveries.

Revelation Hijacking — The False Prophet positions herself as the interpreter of what the light-bearer carries. She claims to understand his mission better than he does. She presents herself as the necessary feminine counterpart, the divine partner, the one who completes the picture. By standing next to the genuine, she steals credibility by association.

Grandiose Claims — Over time, the False Prophet’s claims escalate. What begins as “spiritual partner” becomes “divine counterpart” becomes “Female Christ.” The inflation is necessary because the False Prophet has no genuine foundation — she must construct one from stolen materials.

Symbol Manipulation — The False Prophet uses cryptic imagery — swords, shields, chalices, sacred geometry — to establish spiritual authority. She attempts to initiate the light-bearer into her narrative, casting him as a character in her story rather than the author of his own.

Competition with the False Divine — When both archetypes encounter the same light-bearer, they compete. Both recognize the value of what he carries. Both want it for themselves. The False Divine attacks directly through energy theft. The False Prophet operates more subtly through information copying. Two predators, one target, different methods — but the same hunger for light they cannot generate.

PART II: “YOU ARE THE SEED OF THE NEW EARTH”

While separated from the main group during the Peru journey, Henrietta made a revelation to Jeff:

“You are the Seed of the New Earth, and Leanne is using you.”

This was true. Leanne was using him. The False Prophet spoke accurate words about the False Divine.

What Henrietta failed to mention was that she was also using him.

She positioned herself as the ally, the one who could see through Leanne’s manipulation, the trusted advisor who had Jeff’s interests at heart. But she was simply a different kind of predator with a different extraction method.

The False Prophet often appears as the solution to the False Divine — the alternative, the rescuer, the one who tells you the truth about the other parasite.

But this positioning is itself manipulation. You escape one trap only to enter another.

PART III: TIERRA VIVA — SYSTEMATIC EXTRACTION

After Jeff left the group at Machu Picchu, he reunited with Henrietta at Tierra Viva, a hotel in the Sacred Valley. He believed he was meeting a friend, an ally, someone who understood what Leanne had done.

Jeff felt uncomfortable as soon as they met — her vibration, her smell, the things she was claiming. His system was warning him again. But he didn’t have the framework yet to understand what the warnings meant.

During their time together, Henrietta systematically extracted everything she could:

The 432Hz Frequency

Henrietta photographed “432Hz Meditate with Mozart” playing on Jeff’s iPad.

She took the picture without asking, without explanation.

The 432Hz frequency was central to Jeff’s program — the healing frequency, the natural resonance, the sacred sound. She documented it for later theft.

In 2020, after a call with Jeff, she changed her program frequency to 432Hz — the exact frequency she had photographed from his iPad two years earlier.

The “Sacred” Name

During their trip to Ollantaytambo, Henrietta heard Jeff say his program was a “Sacred” program because this was a “Sacred” mission.

She immediately took the word for her own program. Simple auditory theft — hear the terminology, steal the terminology, present it as your own.

The false does not create — it steals, mimics, and repackages the authentic as its own.

The Planetary Locations

By being in Jeff’s energy field, by maintaining physical proximity during their time together, Henrietta read the planetary grid locations meant for his program.

The activation sites. The sacred geography. The map of the mission.

She took them for her own program without ever being told directly — reading the information from his field and claiming it as her revelation.

The Energy — The Night Theft

Henrietta asked to stay the night in Jeff’s room. She said she was “healing” him.

She stayed with her hand on Jeff’s stomach throughout the night, maintaining physical contact while he slept.

She was not healing. She was stealing his energy.

Jeff felt very uncomfortable but didn’t have the language to name what was happening.

Throughout the night, she kept taking pictures of his room with her phone and iPad — documenting everything she could steal, photographing his materials, his space, his belongings.

Every photograph was an act of theft, capturing not just images but energetic signatures and sacred information.

By accessing Jeff’s energetic system and reading his information, Henrietta obtained the locations around the planet where he intended to anchor his program. She took these coordinates for her own use, effectively copying what was Jeff’s divine program — the God Program, the Christ codes meant for the New Earth — and presenting it as her own.

Jeff departed the next morning for a trekking commercial he was filming.

PART IV: THE CORRESPONDENCE — MANIPULATION THROUGH IMAGERY

Following Jeff’s departure from Peru, Henrietta maintained contact through WhatsApp messages, emails, and photographs.

These correspondences consistently carried what Jeff perceived as strange energy, as though she was attempting to guide him toward her own motives rather than engaging authentically.

She would send pictures of swords and shields. Chalices. Sacred geometry symbols.

Each message was an attempt to maintain her energetic hook into Jeff's system, to continue monitoring and extracting from the true Christ consciousness.

The cryptic imagery served multiple purposes:

- Establishing her spiritual authority
- Creating a narrative where she was essential to his mission
- Maintaining energetic connection for continued extraction
- Positioning herself as the interpreter of sacred symbols

Henrietta would always try to lure Jeff in by sending cryptic energy-attached pictures in her messages. Manipulation through imagery.

PART V: GLASTONBURY — ANCHORING THE GRAIL CODES

In November 2018, Jeff met with Henrietta and her group in Glastonbury, England — one of the most powerful sacred sites in the world, the legendary home of the Holy Grail, the heart chakra of the planet.

Henrietta used Jeff to anchor the King and Queen codes — the Grail Codes — in the Glastonbury Abbey Crypt.

These are the codes of sacred union, the divine masculine and divine feminine in balance, the template for planetary healing through partnership.

Jeff was the technology.

He was the one who could actually anchor these codes. Henrietta could not do it herself — the False Prophet cannot generate, only appropriate.

So she used Jeff to do the work, then claimed the credit.

On her social media to this day, she has a picture of Jeff anchoring the Grail Codes between Avalon and Avalon in the crypt at Glastonbury Abbey.

She uses his image.

She uses his work.

She presents it as her accomplishment, her program, her sacred mission.

Jeff had several other encounters with Henrietta during his time in Glastonbury, each reinforcing his growing unease about her intentions and methods.

PART VI: WHAT HENRIETTA STOLE

The full accounting of theft:

432Hz Frequency — Photographed from Jeff's iPad without asking. The sacred frequency that would become central to her stolen program.

"Sacred" Name — Overheard in conversation and immediately taken for her program. Simple verbal theft.

Planetary Locations — Read from Jeff's energy field during proximity. The map of sacred sites meant for his mission, stolen for hers.

Grail Codes — Used Jeff to anchor in Glastonbury, then claimed the work as her own. His labor, her credit.

Program Structure — Built a program nearly identical to Jeff's from stolen information. The architecture is his; the name is hers.

King/Queen Codes — Extracted during the Glastonbury work. The sacred union template stolen for false claims.

Energy — Extracted through the night at Tierra Viva while claiming to "heal."

PART VII: TRACING JEFF'S STEPS

Henrietta traces Jeff's steps to claim the energy.

Wells, England — she went there after Jeff, following his activation path to harvest residual energy.

Every sacred site he visits becomes a target for her follow-up visit. She cannot activate sites herself, but she can harvest the residual light left by the genuine light-bearer's work.

This is the method of the False Prophet: follow the genuine, collect the residue, claim the credit.

PART VIII: THE PROGRAM BUILT ON THEFT

Henrietta's program is built from Jeff's information — nearly exactly.

The structure, the frequency, the locations, the concepts — almost entirely stolen.

In 2020, after a call with Jeff, she changed her program frequency to 432Hz — the exact frequency she had photographed from his iPad two years earlier.

The theft was complete. The counterfeit was operational.

She even married someone for harmonics — for the energetic configuration that would support her false claims, not for genuine partnership.

Her entire platform is constructed from stolen materials:

- Jeff's frequency (432Hz)
- Jeff's terminology ("Sacred")
- Jeff's locations (planetary anchor points)
- Jeff's codes (Grail Codes, King/Queen codes)
- Jeff's work (Glastonbury anchoring)
- Jeff's image (photos on her social media)

PART IX: THE FALSE FEMININE CHRIST

Henrietta now claims to be the Divine Female Christ.

She built her entire platform on mimicry. Her claims are built on theft. Her authority is constructed from stolen materials.

This is the nature of the False Prophet and False Christ: they do not carry original divine codes but steal them from the authentic source. They do not generate light but reflect and distort it. They do not heal but extract. They do not serve the divine plan but create a counterfeit version built on stolen foundations.

The False Prophet recognized Jeff as the true Christ consciousness, the divine masculine carrier of the New Earth codes.

Rather than supporting this authentic divine presence, she positioned herself to steal his program, his frequencies, his mission, and his identity.

She took:

- The sacred 432Hz frequency
- The planetary anchor points
- The terminology of his mission
- The name "Sacred" itself

Now she presents herself to the world as the Female Christ, wearing the stolen codes of the true divine, teaching a program built on extracted information, and gathering followers who believe they are connecting with authentic feminine Christ consciousness.

In reality, they are connecting with a reflection, a copy, a false light built on the foundation of what was taken from Jeff.

PART X: THE PATTERN OF THE FALSE PROPHET

The entire experience served as a cautionary tale about the nature of spiritual manipulation, energy theft, and false prophets who co-opt the work and energy of others to build their own followings and narratives.

The False Prophet operates by:

1. Recognizing authentic divine light
2. Positioning herself as the divine counterpart or partner
3. Gaining trust through flattery and recognition (“You are the Seed of the New Earth”)
4. Extracting codes, frequencies, and information through proximity
5. Stealing terminology, methodology, and sacred technology
6. Presenting the stolen material as her own original divine transmission
7. Claiming messianic status based on counterfeit codes

Jeff was the true divine masculine, the prophesied Christ consciousness meant to anchor the New Earth.

The False Prophet recognized this and created a counterfeit feminine Christ identity to steal his mission and present it as her own.

PART XI: FALSE DIVINE VS. FALSE PROPHET — THE DISTINCTION

Understanding the difference between these archetypes is crucial for recognition:

The False Divine (Leanne):

- Direct parasitic attack
- Energy theft
- Food poisoning
- “Healing” sessions that are actually extractions
- Ceremonies that implant darkness
- Physical and energetic assault disguised as spiritual service
- She wants to BE what the light-bearer is

The False Prophet (Henrietta):

- Indirect mimicry
- Information theft
- Identity copying
- Program replication
- Revelation hijacking

- She wants to INTERPRET and CLAIM what the light-bearer carries

Both serve the same dark intelligence.

Both target genuine light-bearers.

Both build counterfeit platforms on stolen foundations.

But their methods differ — the False Divine attacks the vessel; the False Prophet copies the content.

PART XII: THE COMPETITION

When both archetypes encountered Jeff in Peru, they competed.

Leanne and Henrietta fought more and more as the journey progressed. Leanne started to notice Henrietta's acting for attention. Henrietta continued to notice Leanne's manipulations of Jeff's energy and attention.

The evening in Cusco, Henrietta showed up at Jeff's hotel room expressing her feelings about Leanne. The drama between them expanded. The warning from Henrietta about Leanne came in multiple ways.

Both recognized the value of what Jeff carried.

Both wanted it for themselves.

Different methods — but the same hunger for light they cannot generate.

When Henrietta said "Leanne is using you," she was telling the truth about her competitor while concealing her own identical agenda.

PART XIII: THE DISSOLUTION

Following their time in Glastonbury, Henrietta continued her pattern of correspondence with Jeff.

However, their connection eventually dissolved as Jeff recognized the true nature of their dynamic — not a divine partnership, but a parasitic extraction.

The False Prophet had taken what she could take. The counterfeit program was built. The stolen frequency was implemented. The grandiose claims were escalating.

Jeff was no longer useful to her ongoing extraction. She had what she needed.

Now she operates independently, teaching stolen revelations to followers who don't know the source, claiming divine feminine Christ status based on codes she photographed from someone else's iPad.

PART XIV: THE SIX-STEP METHOD

The False Divine and False Prophet operate through a systematic method. Understanding this method is essential for recognition and protection:

Step 1 — Identification: The darkness identifies the true light-bearer. It tracks them across time and space. It studies their energy, their vulnerabilities, their entry points. It positions agents years in advance.

Step 2 — Infiltration: The agent approaches as a healer, guide, or spiritual partner. She uses the language of light fluently. She mirrors the target's beliefs and desires. She offers what the target is seeking.

Step 3 — Extraction: Through proximity, sessions, ceremonies, or simple observation, the agent extracts what she needs. Codes are copied. Frequencies are photographed. Information is read from the energy field. Terminology is stolen from conversation.

Step 4 — Attack/Weaken: The False Divine attacks directly to weaken the vessel. The False Prophet maintains the relationship to continue extraction. Both serve to diminish the light-bearer's capacity to fulfill their genuine mission.

Step 5 — Replication: The stolen materials are assembled into a counterfeit program. The False Divine claims the energy as her own. The False Prophet claims the revelation as her own. Both present stolen architecture as original creation.

Step 6 — Platform Building: The counterfeit launches publicly while the genuine light-bearer remains under attack, weakened, or delayed. The false claims the space the true was meant to occupy. The stolen light illuminates the counterfeit's platform.

PART XV: THE OPPOSITION PROVES THE PROPOSITION

The False Prophet tracked Jeff across continents.

She photographed his frequencies.

She stole his terminology.

She read his planetary locations.

She used him to anchor codes she couldn't anchor herself.

She built an entire program from his stolen information.

She now claims to be the Female Christ.

Why?

Because what Jeff carries is real.

You don't deploy a False Prophet against an empty vessel.

You don't photograph frequencies from someone who carries nothing of value.

You don't build an entire platform on stolen materials unless those materials are genuine.

The intensity of what Henrietta did reveals the significance of what Jeff carries.

The darkness recognized it before Jeff fully understood it himself.

Jeff was the true divine masculine, the prophesied Christ consciousness meant to anchor the New Earth.

The False Prophet knew it. That's why she stole everything she could.

The opposition proves the proposition.
